I confirmed yes on the background checks. I would say renewable if continued proficiency is demonstrated (per DPI).

I think just the subject of proficiency, and I'd leave the grades question open for DPI to address. Yes on 3 years – the idea is that this license would provide the educator with 3 years of experience, at which time he or she could use the equivalency process to gain a regular teaching license (and then be able to teach outside of his or her subject area in a charter school).

Since this is an initial license, I would say yes, although I will have to double check that.

Would this new license authorize the teacher to teach outside the subject in which he or she demonstrated proficiency?
Any particular grades?

Also, as far as I know, this will be the only 3-year license; all the others are 5 years. Okay?

I assume the individual would have to undergo a background check, etc., for the license. Is that right?

Hi Peter – thanks for pointing out the issues on this one. I believe what we want to do is direct DPI to create a new initial license for charter school teachers that is competency-based. That is, a person can obtain a three-year license to teach in a charter school if they have a bachelor's degree and demonstrate proficiency in the subject they intend to teach. Is that enough to put into a draft?

Thanks!

I'm sorry, Sara, but I'm still confused. Currently, DPI can issue an instructional staff license to a person who has a regular license and teaches in a charter school. The instructional staff license allows the individual "to teach a subject outside his or her teaching license." See PI 34.34 (1), Wis. Admin. Code, below. How do you want to change current law?

(1) CHARTER SCHOOL INSTRUCTIONAL STAFF LICENSE.

34.34(1)(a) Except as specified under par. (b), a charter school instructional staff license may be issued to an individual who holds a valid Wisconsin teaching license issued by the department to teach a subject outside his or her teaching license.

(b) An individual assigned to teach a core academic subject in a charter school shall hold a valid Wisconsin teaching license and have done one of the following:

1. Completed a major or minor in the assigned core academic subject.
2. Successfully passed a content knowledge examination prescribed by the state superintendent in the assigned core academic subject.
3. Demonstrated knowledge and competence in the assigned core academic subject based on an assessment process approved by the state superintendent.

(c) A charter school instructional staff license shall have the same renewal interval and renewal requirements as the existing license.

(d) The district administrator or a designated official of the employing school district or charter school under s. 118.40, Stats., may submit to the department a request that a license be issued under this subsection on behalf of the individual receiving the license if he or she volunteers for that assignment. The individual receiving the license under this subsection shall submit a completed application, developed by the department, specifying his or her qualifications for the license.

Peter, I think the idea is that a regular license holder also could get a license to teach outside his/her subject area in a charter school via a charter license. I'll have to check on the grade question, but I believe any grade would be a correct assumption at this point. I do not think that we would have any specifics about what DPI could impose – generally, we just want to direct them to develop the license.

Thanks Peter!

Sara, do you mean that a person who holds a regular teaching license, and teaches in a charter school, could get a generalist license that would allow the holder to teach any subject in that charter school? Would the generalist license allow the holder to teach any grade in a charter school, as well as any subject? What requirements could DPI impose for the issuance of such a license?

Thanks –

Peter

Hi Peter – can we make this license available for subject or subjects? So if you have competency in multiple subjects, you can teach multiple subjects under 1 license.
